CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY
Washington, D. C.

25X1A

SUBJECT: Extension of Military Officers' Normal Tour of Duty

1. The Central Intelligence Agency has entered into an agreement with the Assistant Secretary of Defense to the effect that three years will be considered a normal tour of duty for military personnel assigned to this Agency, except in the case of Marine Corps naval aviators where a normal tour will be of two years' duration. Officers who are selected for an important command assignment in their service or are selected to attend one of the six senior professional schools (National War College, Industrial College of the Armed Forces, Armed Forces Staff College, and the Army, Navy, and Air War Colleges) will be released from CIA assignment without regard to normal tour considerations.

2. Exceptions involving extension of duty tour for a maximum of one year will be forwarded to the Assistant Director (Personnel) through the Military Personnel Division, with the concurrence of the Assistant Director, Senior Staff Chief, or Deputy Director who exercises jurisdiction over the officer concerned.

FOR THE DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE:

WALTER REID WOLF
Deputy Director
(Administration)
